

Classic Remise Berlin

A historically unique setting for events – with state-of-the-art technical facilities

Classic Remise Berlin is housed in a lovingly restored Wilhelminian-style tram depot dating from 1899. We are proud to have been a long-standing service partner of Classic Remise Berlin since its opening in 2003, successfully supporting well over 100 events a year with projection and IT technology, sound and lighting systems, as well as our expertise and passion for perfectly staged events and conferences.

The flexibly configurable event spaces, accommodating up to 600 people, enable events to take place in a unique setting and atmosphere:

Historic industrial architecture combined with the display of historic and classic vehicles, an unobstructed view into the service and restoration workshops, and the 'permanent exhibition' of prized classic cars in the glass display units guarantee your guests unforgettable moments at the world's first centre of its kind for classic cars and collector's vehicles. Add to this high-quality catering on site – and state-of-the-art event technology that blends respectfully with the historic building without compromising its visual impact on your guests.

Experience a service that helps you organise your event successfully and cost-effectively. Experience your event in an unrivalled setting that your guests will appreciate and love. On the following pages, discover some examples of past productions and feel free to share your projects, wishes and ideas with us. We'd be delighted to meet you in person at any time.

Let us put your success centre-stage

Mission & Vision

Optimal conditions and maximum results

Markets are changing, trends are emerging, and decisions need to be made more quickly. Put your strategy into action exactly when it matters most – and inspire your staff, partners and customers. We create the technical conditions for a compelling presentation: with well-thought-out planning, reliable processes and experience in execution. From the initial idea to the final round of applause, we manage your event – professionally, effectively and with your budget in mind.

Your quality assured by our principles

Our principle: a dedicated project manager takes overall responsibility for your project and is on hand to assist you with any queries. For you, this means short lines of communication, clear arrangements and efficient processes – ensuring quality you can rely on. You'll receive a detailed quote quickly and exactly the equipment your project requires. State-of-the-art equipment creates the ideal conditions for a successful outcome.

Modules of success

It's not the equipment You use but the way You use it. Light, brilliant and surprising: a captivating presentation moves people and leaves a lasting impression. When light, sound and space come together, your message becomes an experience. Our work is characterised by experience with clients from a wide range of sectors, a keen sense of what makes a difference, and a love of detail. We combine creative ideas with precise execution and deploy technology where it has the greatest impact. In doing so, we deliberately remain in the background – so that your production takes centre stage.

Your partner for well-thought-out solutions – since 1991

We take your goals seriously and work alongside you – from the initial planning stage right through to implementation. We keep a close eye on every detail and constantly check that all measures fit in with your existing strategy. This enables us to identify opportunities for optimisation at an early stage, avoid unnecessary costs and save valuable time. For results that take you further. This is what we mean by comprehensive support: personalised, forward-thinking and reliable.

Customer Service

Competent advice and fast processing

Whether you already have specific ideas or are still looking for inspiration – our knowledgeable and friendly team of specialists will be happy to assist you. We'll process your enquiry promptly from Monday to Friday. As soon as we have all the necessary details, we'll draw up an attractive quote for you. The more we learn about your wishes and requirements, the more precisely we can tailor it to your needs.

Your event idea deserves personalised support. That's why we advise you right from the start and usually assign you a dedicated project manager. They'll coordinate every stage of the process and support you right through to the day of your event – so you can relax and focus on what matters most: your guests.

Enquire now – together, we'll make the most of your ideas!
